Golden Opens the Door to Unlimited Acrylic Creativity

Wow! I just tried Golden Paints new line - Golden OPEN Acrylics. These paints stay moist for so long the possibilities are endless especially since they can be used with your regular acrylic paints.

I've tried these new OPEN acrylics for monoprinting and just love that they stay wet for such a long time. My customers are also giving them rave reviews. One customer who paints portraits is thrilled with the blendability of these paints telling me that it solves so many issues that she had with the regular acrylics drying so quickly.

At the store, the staff squirted out some OPEN Acrylics one morning and it was still wet and workable the next morning.

We now stock all 40 colours in the 2 oz. tube as well as the OPEN Acrylic Gel Gloss, the OPEN Acrylic Medium Gloss and the Thinner.

Daniel Smith Arrives

If you want your paintings to jump off the page with vibrancy, Daniel Smith Watercolours should be in your paintbox.

With over 200 colours to choose from in a generous 15 ml tube, you are sure to find exactly the shade you need. Exclusive to Daniel Smith are PrimaTek paints made with authentic mineral pigments with colours like Rhodonite, Tiger's Eye and Sedona.

Daniel Smith also carries a stunning Luminescent watercolour line that simulate the luster of mother-of-pearl. They are made from mica pigment which creates a depth and sheen to your paintings so your paintings take on an added dimension.

Kensington Art Supply is thrilled to start carrying Daniel Smith watercolours.

Lyptus: Eco-Friendly Wood Product

Commercially grown in South American plantations, lyptus is an extremely durable, quick growing hardwood. It thrives in the warm climate allowing for harvesting in just 14 to 16 years rather than up to 70 years in colder areas.

Careful development of this product has led to a sturdy, dense but workable wood resulting in long-lasting art supplies like easels. Once lyptus has reached maturity, it is carefully harvested and processed in a state-of-the-art mill.

High-tech cutting and drying processes produce a smooth finish and consistent quality.

A Place for Art

Sometimes, creativity just happens. But so does life. You're sitting at the kitchen table getting into your painting when you need to clean up for dinner. Or maybe your spare bedroom is needed for weekend guests.

Dedicating a space for your art starts with a well-constructed table and bins for your supplies. With everything at the ready, you can be creative when you want to be.
